Professional Hosting & Public Speaking

- Apple Computer: Scott Rose is one of Apple Computer's top professional speakers for their major events nationwide. Due to Apple's infamous secrecy about new products, Scott is briefed just 48 hours before stepping in front of 100,000 people to deliver several 30-minute speeches — as if Scott had known about the products for months. Scott has been speaking for Apple Computer since 1999, after they discovered his multi-talented ability to speak eloquently in front of thousands of people while making complex technological concepts appear simple.
